

You have an opportunity with regard to the halftime show at the Superbowl to make a very important statement to all broadcasting media. The decency bar is continuing to slip lower and lower to the detriment of our very impressionable youth. The Wall Street Journal 2-3-04 stated that the chairman of CBS and his associates attended all the rehearsals and "there was no indication at any time that such an inappropriate display was contemplated". The whole show was inappropriate for a family rated program with the "bump and grind" movements, crotch grabbing, orgasmic gyrations of the the dancers, and lyrics like "get you naked before this song is over". CBS executives don't even seem to recognize the fact this vulgar fare does not belong in a television program intended for family viewing. Your job is to police this sort of chipping away of our country's moral fiber. What is next? Two breasts? A penis or two? Where will it all end? DO YOUR JOB!!!
